

Opportunity to teach Optometry in Nampula, Mozambique

Are you a practicing optometrist or optometry academic seeking a new and challenging experience?

The University of Lúrio in Mozambique has implemented an optometry training program in partnership with the International Centre for Eyecare Education (ICEE) www.icee.org and Dublin Institute of Technology (DIT), in February 2009. This mainly Portuguese-medium training program will serve to meet the human resource needs for optometric service delivery in a vast country with significant resource challenges.

Interested candidates should be degree qualified (minimum Bachelor's degree in Optometry), able to speak Portuguese and have a keen interest in academia preferably with previous undergraduate teaching experience. All teaching materials will be provided by ICEE.

We are currently recruiting for 2 positions. In these posts, responsibilities will include lecturing, clinical work and supervision and/or overall program coordination.

Remuneration: US $ 20 000 – US $ 24 000 per annum depending on experience
Support costs: Housing, healthcare and telephone allowances
Start Date: January '10 (applications close 21 August 2009)
Duration of term: Flexible (minimum 1 year contract preferable)

Please note that these are unaccompanied positions and return flights will only be sponsored by the project for contract commitments of 1 year or longer.

About Nampula, Mozambique:

Mozambique is a country in southeastern Africa bordered by the Indian Ocean to the east. It shares its borders with Tanzania in the north, Malawi, Zimbabwe and Zambia to the west and Swaziland and South Africa to the southwest. Mozambique is renowned for its stunning beaches, excellent diving opportunities and magical offshore islands. Maputo, the country's capital city, is alive with sounds of the country's trademark marrabenta music, jazz bars and lively sidewalk cafés.

Nampula is the third largest city in Mozambique, located in the North and growing at a rapid rate. It is located about 120 miles inland from the nearest beach. The official language is Portuguese, though Mozambique enjoys a vast range of culture and linguistic diversity.

This is an exciting opportunity in a very interesting cultural environment.
